

SEPC July 7th Meeting – Statement of Necessity

The Tennessee State Energy Policy Council (SEPC) is holding today's meeting without physical quorum. This is due, in part, out of respect for the various council members who would need to travel to the meeting and because the topics to be discussed and voted on today pertain to bodies of work that have already been completed and are awaiting full council approval. These include:

1. Vote on an official SEPC logo
2. Vote on final draft of SEPC's Natural Gas RFI
3. Vote on draft Executive Briefing slide deck to be used in upcoming meetings with stakeholders
4. Vote on May meeting minutes
5. Discussion of council rule changes per State Comptroller.

The SEPC will be holding a meeting in the next few months that will have a physical quorum, however meaningful work cannot be continued without council approval on the aforementioned items. Thank you.
